MAJORITY LEADER WANTS
STATE TO MEET OBLIGATIONS

A letter from Joseph J. C. Dicarlo, majority leader of the Massachusetts Senate, put the blame for the State's failure to meet school transportation payments and payments due for State-owned property on a veto by Governor Sargent of a 24 million dollar appropriation by the legislature.

He suggests that the State should be required to provide the funding for at least 75% of its outstanding obligations to the cities and towns each fiscal year and suggests that cities and towns be repaid in full for any interest charges on money they are forced to borrow because the state is delinquent in payments. He invited the local Board of Selectmen to comment on this idea. The Board of Selectmen, in an answer of January 28th, had these comments:

"The Board of Selectmen concur in the necessity for the state to fulfill its obligations to the cities and towns to the fullest extent. Any constitutional, legislative, or administrative changes which would contribute to a more responsible attitude on the state's part would be highly desirable. The Board also concurs in the desirability of making one hundred percent funding every year by the state mandatory, but would go along with the suggested seventy-five percent requirement.

"The Board totally agrees with the recommendation that cities and towns should be 'repaid in full for any interest charges they pay on money they are forced to borrow because of delinquency on the part of the state in its payments to them'.

"Additionally, the Board of Selectmen feels that the Legislature has been very guilty of creating and supporting major financial problems for the cities and towns. Among such disastrous legislation has been: the police incentive pay bill for which the state's share has never been appropriated; the police ratio pay bill which has cost the towns many thousands of dollars unnecessarily, and the binding arbitration bill which takes control over budgets out of the hands of the townspeople. This type of action by the legislature seems to be increasing year by year and must be halted.

"We are pleased that you have taken a stand against state government usurping the rights of cities and towns to exercise complete control over their finances. And we hope you will

The Selectmen want the legislature to be required to enact legislation which will require that each town accept the law before it becomes effective.

AWARD INSURANCE CONTRACT

Peter Briggs Company was awarded the contract for treasurer, tax collector and town clerk bonds for the sum of $373.00.

DOG MONEY RECEIVED

Mattapoisett received $1,947.96 from Plymouth County as dog funds. The town forwards receipts from licensing of dogs to the County which removes its share and returns the town's share. This dog fund goes towards the support of the Mattapoisett Public Library.

WANTS TO PURCHASE OLD DUMP

Attorney Edwin Livingstone, Jr. has approached the Board of Selectmen with a query on the former North Street dump site. He said he has purchased land on North Street bordered by Railroad Avenue and the old town dump. If it is for sale and if it could be appraised to determine a value, he said that he is interested in advice on how to proceed to buy the property if the town wants to sell.

stone that the land is still under the control of the Board of Health. Before it could be offered for sale an article would have to be inserted in the warrant for approval by the townspeople. They said that no plans are presently afoot to do this but they will notify Mr. Livingstone if a decision is made to sell the former dump in the not too distant future.

ASK FAIRHAVEN SEWER PLANS

The Board of Selectmen has written to William H. Perry, chairman of the Fairhaven Board of Selectmen, to inquire as to any plans that Fairhaven may have for extending the Fairhaven sewage system toward Mattapoisett. This was done by request of the Mattapoisett Water Pollution Abatement Committee which is presently preparing plans for a Mattapoisett sewage system. According to Francis S. Lynch, chairman of the Water Pollution Abatement Committee, "almost any conceivable sewage collection treatment facility adopted by Mattapoisett could involve some de-

SELECTMEN TO MEET AT 7 P.M.

The Board of Selectmen voted that the starting time of the regular Tuesday Selectmen's meeting be set for 7 P.M.

TELEPHONE COMPANY HEARING

A public hearing will be held at the Mattapoisett Town Hall on February 19th, at 8:00 P.M. upon the petition of the New England Telephone Company of Massachusetts, dated January 18, 1974, for proposed conduit and manhole locations on Route 5. Abutters have been notified of the hearing.

SUBLEASE APPROVED

The Board of Selectmen has agreed to allow Frank Sylvia, proprietor of Fish on the Wharf, to sublease the business to Albert Lewis, III, for the remainder of the lease period (3 years). Mr. Sylvia will retain responsibility for maintaining the premises and has also agreed to maintain the rest rooms in the fishermen's locker.

BUDGET TALK

The Board of Selectmen met with the Finance Board and the Personnel Board to discuss budgetary matters.

Selectmen also met with the Personnel Board and the Board of Fire Engineers to discuss town meeting articles.

SHELLFISH QUESTIONNAIRE

The Board of Selectmen returned a questionnaire to Senator John F. Aylmer regarding shellfishing in Mattapoisett. They indicated that the town has $16,645.52 as the total 18-month budget for 1973. State aid for 1973 is $750.00. Of this salaries total $8,114.23. Selectmen said that the town would like to expand seeding of quahogs and oysters. Selectmen suggested that the State make seed quahogs available to the towns obtained from polluted areas of Massachusetts that could be bought at reduced prices as the town now pays too much for the seed.

FEBRUARY FUN

A large committee of busy people is working hard to make a success of the social event of the year. They are providing one of the best musical groups in the area for your entertainment, a most appropriate door prize and a scrumptious buffet. All you need to provide for this event is good friends, your desire for a fun evening and a hearty appetite.

Plan to attend the dance, Cupid's Caper, on Saturday, February 16th.

A Change at the Wharf

Editorial, D.C.J.

One of the most familiar faces in town, a businessman probably known to as many people as anyone in Mattapoisett, is going to be missed at Mattapoisett Wharf. Mr. Frank Sylvia, proprietor of Fish on the Wharf, is returning to his former vocation in New Bedford, and has turned the wharf establishment over to Albert Lewis, III, who will continue the business as before.

Frank, however, will be missed by all who visit the wharf. As unofficial guardian of the harbor, he kept watch on the boats moored offshore and many times dropped everything to go out and save a runaway from beaching on the rocks. That is the kind of generous man that he is. Townspeople will always remember that Frank Sylvia was the major contributor to the Mattapoisett bandstand. While still building his business, he turned a large part of the profit from his cooked food business over to the bandstand fund for most of one season. This beautiful bandstand, enjoyed by all, was the result of townwide generosity but none greater than Frank Sylvia's.

I think that I speak for a majority of the townspeople when I say that we wish Frank the very best in his new endeavor. We will miss the friendly contact with him at the wharf; however, the Sylvia family has taken root in Mattapoisett and will remain as valued residents.

State of The Union

Editorial, D.C.J.

President Nixon's State of the Union message was the standard extravagant self-praise and glowing predictions for the future that all Presidents indulge in. That it bears no relation to conditions in the country past, present or future, is par for the course. The only danger in this exercise is that some day either the President or the people might take some of this rhetoric for serious assessment of the condition of the country.

Two points that the President made are worth the making. One - he will not be forced into a resignation. Two - he does acknowledge that an energy crisis exists. It is high time that the President came out of his shell to reassert his authority. In the rebuttal, Senator Mansfield said that the Congress is determined to regain the power relinquished to the Presidency. He did not say that most of this power was given by Democratic Congresses to Democrat Presidents. The reasons that most of these powers were transferred to the executive branch were to give the country the capacity for action. Congressional committees tend to mull over questions for months. A missile fired from Russia takes minutes to strike the United States. This makes it imperative that Congress defer to the President on decisions that require instant judgement and action.

If the President really believes that his overtures to the Russians have assured a "generation of peace" we are in trouble. If he really believes that most Americans have more purchasing power today then last year, we are in trouble. If he thinks for a moment that the energy crisis can be solved by a long term development of fossil fuels, we are in trouble. If President Nixon believes that taxes are fair and equally borne by everyone then he doesn't even read his own returns. If he believes that he was elected to push through socialized medicine in a half baked plan that will further depress that already overburdened businessmen he is badly mistaken.

The primary concern of most Americans is inflation. This inflation is a direct result of government on all levels, spending far more than is available. The second concern of major importance is levels of taxation far in excess of the toleration point. The third primary concern is shortages in every business that you can think of. These shortages, for the most part, are caused directly from government control, government edict or environmental laws that bear down too quickly and with no regard to the economics of private business.

The truth is that the State of the Nation leaves much to be desired. Neither Congress or the President has any idea what the malady is because they are insulated from the people by a thick layer of money and power. The man on the street would diagnose the country's ills as too much government interference, too much government spending, too much government waste and inefficiency on every level. Instead of more socialistic schemes, we could do with an austerity program on every government level.

I think it is significant that the only portion of the State of the Union message that was greeted with dead silence was the praise of the American people for sacrifice in the saving of fuel oil and gasoline.

Now we read of plans to increase the gasoline tax because the sacrifice has reduced the consumption which has resulted in lower tax revenue. The same is true of fuel oil. The average home is below the comfort level of heat but people are forced to pay exhorbitant fuel cost to maintain even this minimum.

The time has come for the government to establish contact with the people. If ever they listen to the public they will be shocked right out of their expensive limousines. The public has diminished confidence in government because government has ceased to be a servant and has switched to a role of master.

STUDDS WEEKLY REPORT TO THE PEOPLE
BY REP. GERRY E. STUDDS, 12-MASS.

WASHINGTON, D.C., FEB. 1 -- I regret to report to you that after two weeks of the new session the Congress had done little to deal with the vital issues confronting the nation -- the grave questions surrounding the Presidency, the increasingly mysterious and painful energy crisis, skyrocketing food and fuel prices, the critical need for reform of our health care system, our tax structure, and our campaign practices and procedures. The Congress seems strangely uneager either to go home and face the people or to come to grips with the issues here in Washington.

In my travels around the 12th District during the December recess - and especially at our open meetings -- I sensed a good deal of confusion and anger, and a broad distrust of people in public life. A sampling of the unusually heavy volume of mail I have been receiving in recent weeks illustrates this.

A senior citizen in Hingham, who describes himself as a lifelong Republican, writing on behalf of his family stated: "To begin with, we are sick and tired of excuses about this gasoline shortage. We believe that with the lack of leadership in the White House, the Congress should be much more aggressive and take what action is necessary to help this situation. My average cost for fuel oil over the past five years has been about 18 cents. I have been paying 39 cents since September, which makes this more than a 100 percent increase. I am disabled and my total salary for the year is $4,800, including outside help, and I have just returned from the hospital after a serious illness. Food costs in our area have now increased at least 80 percent during the past five years. WE WANT SOME ACTION!"

A small businessman in Hyannis wrote: "We have reached a point where the person on an average income cannot live. It is time to stop the excessive profits made from resources we were led to believe belonged to us as Americans. I am also of the opinion that Nixon should be impeached."

On the other hand, a couple from West Dennis wrote: "Our message is brief: Let's get off the President's back and forget about Watergate, impeachment and the resignation of the President. Let's get on with the business of running the country, the problems that should be faced -- the economic situation, the gas shortage and inflation in general."

A Kingston family wrote: An investigation of the oil and gas shortage should be made immediately. The working people are being had and your vote is our only recourse."

credit for achievement in the area of foreign policy, particularly for his efforts toward a detente with the Soviet Union and China, I find it difficult to recognize the very rosy picture he painted of the state of the union. The state of the union he described bears very little resemblance to the state of affairs I have had described to me by residents of the 12th District during the more than 80 open meetings I have held in each of our 46 communities during the past year.

The President failed to deal with what I believe to be the most important question of all -- the question of how people feel about their own government. I wish he had spoken boldly and directly to this point -- and challenged the Congress to clean up their own House, as well as his house, by dramatically changing the way we finance campaigns for high public office.

The President said that "one year of Watergate is enough". In one sense, one day of Watergate is more than enough -- but not unless we act on its lessons and resolve to make the changes necessary to see that it never happens again. We must have campaign spending reform if we are to restore confidence in our electoral process -- most particularly the confidence of the people that their elected representatives are responsive to their concerns rather than to those of powerful and well financed lobbyists.

Smoking:
The proof is in the puffing

(This is the second of a series of three articles presented during Heart Fund Month to inform readers of this newspaper about the latest advances in combating heart and blood vessel diseases.)

II

Women are still less vulnerable to heart attack than men—but if they smoke heavily, their natural protection is reduced. Increased cigaret smoking by women has found them catching up to men in the incidence of heart attack.

Dr. Richard S. Ross, president of the American Heart Association, points to these facts in discussing smokers:

- A Public Health Service report to Congress says that the risk of death in women age 45 to 54 who smoke 10 or more cigarets a day is twice as high as for non-smokers in the same age group.

- A study of autopsy data by a researcher at the Brookdale Hospital Medical Center, Brooklyn, N.Y., shows that of 182 cases of women who suffered sudden death from all causes, two-thirds of the 29 who died from heart attack were known to be heavy smokers—over 20 cigarets a day.

- Evidence has been found that the health of asthmatic children is adversely affected by cigaret smoke exhaled by their parents.

- Studies of the male population of Framingham, Mass. indicate that cigaret smoking ranks with two other factors – elevated cholesterol levels and high blood pressure – in increasing risk of heart attack and stroke.

- A man who smokes more than a pack a day has nearly twice the risk of heart attack and nearly five times the risk of a stroke of a non-smoker. Cigarets affect fats in the bloodstream, cause constriction of the blood vessels, make the heart beat faster and harder and tend to increase blood pressure.

- Teenagers who begin smoking before they are 15 tend to smoke more cigarets, to inhale more and to have "especially high death rates," compared to those who start smoking in their 20's. When these early male smokers reach the 45 to 54 age bracket, their death rate is more than three times that of non-smokers.

Dr. Ross, Physician to Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, and Director of the Cardiovascular Division of the Department of Medicine there, adds that even non-smokers are affected by those who do smoke. According to the U.S. Surgeon General's office, carbon monoxide in poorly ventilated areas is often raised to the danger point and beyond by smoke.

With all this evidence at hand, why do cigaret sales continue to climb? Why is it so hard to get people to give them up?

"Because cigaret smoking is more psychologically than physiologically addictive," says Dr. Ross, adding that it's a "learned habit that can be unlearned."

Efforts to get smokers to quit cold turkey have met with only limited success, he explains. But it's possible to get them to cut down—eventually quit altogether. "Few heavy smokers," he contends, "will quit all at once unless they suffer a heart attack or have some equally frightening experience."

Dr. Ross notes that the American Heart Association places a high priority on smoking withdrawal programs, and provides free educational material.

"If you smoke a pack or more a day," he says, "one way to motivate yourself to stop is to save some of the $200 you spend each year on cigarets. Contribute to the 1974 Heart Fund. You'll reduce your risk of heart attack and stroke – and support Heart research as well."

SMU Benefit Mixer

On Friday, February 8th, the VETS Club of Southeastern Massachusetts University will hold a benefit mixer in the SMU Campus Center at 8:00 P.M. to establish an emergency relief fund. The fund will be used to give financial aid to veterans attending SMU who are not receiving their educational allowance checks due to administrative or clerical problems in the Veterans Administration. Under the present V.A. system, some veterans have waited until the end of the first semester before receiving their educational allowance checks that were due at the start of school. It is hoped that the Vets Relief Fund will allow those veterans to continue their education without interruption until the paper work is completed in the V.A., and their checks start arriving.

"Just a little thank you for the lovely red carnation in the milk-white vase you left on my table while I was in the operating room. I thought I saw something red, and the longer I watched, the clearer it was. Finally, I did see a red flower --- what a nice thought."

This is just the beginning of one of the many letters of thanks Miss Gertrude Dennison, President of the Tobey Hospital Guild, showed at the annual meeting of the corporation. Miss Dennison said most of the messages went on to praise the care received at the hospital.

The "Carnation Project" is a favorite one of the Tobey Guild. Each morning, the Volunteer of the Day brings a carnation in a bud vase to each newly-admitted patient. The program, which was under consideration for many years, was started in December of 1972 under Mrs. Everett York and has been carried on daily since then.

The Tobey Guild always welcomes new volunteers. Mrs. Clara Mascott, newly-appointed liaison between hospital and Guild, is the person at the hospital to contact if one is interested in volunteer work.

Y.M.C.A. News

As part of the National YMCA's continuing effort to "drownproof America", the New Bedford YMCA has announced its annual Learn-to-Swim Campaign will be held February 19-22 (the winter school vacation).

There are at least two good reasons for learning to swim. The first is safety. Drownings are the third leading cause of accidental deaths in the United States.

During the Learn-to-Swim Campaign, most beginners can be taught to swim.....at least be more comfortable in the water. At the completion of the week most beginners will be able to safely swim 50 to 100 feet and be ready for more advanced instruction. People successfully completing the course will be awarded Red Cross certificates.

Parents wishing for more information on registration may phone the YMCA at 997-0734.

Miss Jean Campbell, executive director of the New Bedford YWCA, will speak for the Wives and Mothers' Society on Wednesday, February 13, on the subject "Madeira-Vinho de ilho". Miss Campbell's colored slide program will feature pictures showing not only the beauty of this island but also the many different products and produce for which it is noted.

A business meeting at 7:30 will open the evening's activities. Refreshments will be served during a social hour which will conclude the program.

The Drop-In Art Center, so popular last fall, will open again on Tuesday, February 12. This community service activity is free and open to the public. Sessions will be held from 1:30 to 4:00 P.M. Mrs. Marion Henderson, a student at SMU, majoring in Art Education, will be the instructor.

The program is two-phased - for those who want consultation on a specific art problem, and to introduce adults to a variety of activities to broaden their knowledge of arts and crafts.

Projects undertaken will be inexpensive

THE WEDDING RECEPTION

Long after the happy events of the Wedding Day have gone by, the memory of this wonderful occasion should remain as a permanent source of warm satisfaction. To be able to recall this most important day in our lives with pleasure is a private treasure which can never be removed from our hearts and minds.

Since 1958 the Harbor Beach Club has given the security of guaranteed satisfaction to hundreds of newlyweds concerned about their reception. This is so because a Wedding Reception here is not a haphazard accident. Rather, it is a well planned arrangement between the management and staff of the Harbor Beach Club and the bride and groom - the end purpose of which is the complete satisfaction of the wedding party.

There is a deep personal involvement on the part of the Club in each reception because our pride and reputation are being constantly challenged and we are much too prideful and our reputation means too much to us to allow for any possibility of less than our best effort. We welcome the challenge and the opportunity to be of service for this most important event.

If there is a wedding reception in your future, ask the manager how we may be of help to you. We are sincerely interested.

the widely held Master Medical Plan actually received rate decreases on their renewal dates through the last two quarters of 1973 and other groups will receive reductions on anniversary dates during the first two quarters of 1974.

At the same time, there was no increase in rates for non-group subscribers and a reduction in rates in the last quarter of 1973 for 75 percent on Experience Rated Groups -- those large groups where rates are determined or influenced by their own utilization of the health care benefits.

According to Blue Cross President Henry D. Jones and Blue Shield President John Larkin Thompson, the rate stabilization resulted principally from the effect of the Economic Stabilization Program, other regulatory control, cost containment features of the new Blue Cross contract with Massachusetts hospitals and the success of the Blue Shield utilization review program.

If claims experience continues to follow its present pattern, they said, they are hopeful that rate stabilization can be main-
